SOCIETY.

point they will sail for New York, visiting Atlantic City and other Northern places. Upon their return they will again stop at Norfolk, and after taking in the sights of the Jamestown Exposition will arrive at Danville, where they will make their future home.

To Arrive To-Day.
The Hon. James Bryce, English ambassador to the United States; Mrs. Bryce and Lady Evelyn Gray, daughter of the Canadian Governor-General, will arrive in Richmond this afternoon, and be the guests of Governor and Mrs. Swanson at the Executive Mansion.

They will go to Jamestown Island tomorrow with the host and hostess, Mrs. Swanson has asked a few friends of Mr. and Mrs. Bryce to take dinner with them this evening.

It is a matter of gratification to all the members of the Association for the Preservation of Virginia Antiquities to realize that the representative of the English government is sufficiently interested in the tercentennial of the first English settlement in Virginia to come to witness its celebration and to take part in the exercises of the day.

Patronesses for Ben Greet.
Patronesses for the Ben Greet performances, to be given next Thursday afternoon and evening, on Richmond College campus, for the benefit of the Virginia Nurses' Association, will be Mrs. Claude A. Swanson, Mrs. John Kerr Branch, Mrs. Frederic William Scott, Mrs. James D. Crump, Mrs. Henry Harwood, Mrs. R. H. Lindsey, Mrs. Charles E. Bolling, Mrs. Ellis Talbot, Mrs. Malvern Patterson, Mrs. Walter Morton, Mrs. George Bryan, Mrs. John Stewart Bryan, Mrs. Charles Wortham, Mrs. Samuel Cohen, Miss Eadie Deane, Miss Madge Freedley and Miss Katy T. Buford.

Murrell-Clarke.
The wedding of Miss Gertrude Clarke, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Harvey Clarke, to Dr. Thomas Whitehead Murrell, son of Mr. and Mrs. John D. Murrell, will be celebrated at 5:30 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon, in the First Baptist Church, this city.

The bride will be attended by two maids of honor, her sisters, Misses Virginia and Emma Clarke, and by her bridesmaids, Misses Louise Clarke, Grace Greenwood and Kate Gunn, of Richmond; Miss Leonora Clarke, of Hollins, Va.; Miss Leslie Jeffries, of Norfolk, and Miss Louise Woodward, of Baltimore.

The Rev. Edward B. Pollard, Ph. D., of Chester, Pa., the bride's uncle, will perform the ceremony, assisted by the Rev. G. M. McDaniel, D. D., the pastor of the First Baptist Church.

Mr. Irving Whitehead, of Lynchburg, will be the groom's best man and the groomsmen Dr. Kelley, Dr. Samuel Wilson, Dr. Louis K. Leake, Mr. William Brockenbrough, Mr. Hartwell Taylor, of New Britain, Conn., and Mr. Julian Gunn, of Richmond.

Dr. Murrell is a popular young specialist in medicine. He is adjunct professor at the University College of Medicine, and has had advantage of study abroad, as well as in this country. His grandfather, the late Colonel Thomas Whitehead, was member of Congress from the Sixth Virginia District, and afterward State Commissioner of Agriculture.

Tea at Woman's Club.
Tea will be served at the Woman's Club on Monday afternoon from 5 to 8 o'clock; the usual lecture being omitted on account of the absence of a large number of members, who will spend the day at Jamestown.

To Lecture Here.
The Richmond public is invited to a lecture to be delivered by Dr. Alexander C. Humphreys next Thursday evening in the Hall of the House of Delegates under the auspices of the Richmond Education Association.

Dr. Humphreys is president of Stevens Institute, Hoboken, N. J., and has a wide reputation as a man of deep thought and scholarly attainments. His subject will be "Education—Ethical, but Practical."

Dr. Moore to Lecture.
A pleasant event of the week will be the lecture by Rev. Dr. W. W. Moore, of Union Theological Seminary, in Miami Presbyterian Church, Chestnut Hill, Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. Dr. Moore is considered one of the most eloquent orators in the State, and his lecture on "Rambles in the Nile Valley," is one of the most delightful in his repertoire. It is illustrated by beautiful stereoscopic views from photographs taken by Dr. Moore himself.

Mrs. Allen Complimented.
Mrs. George Ambrose Allen, of Erie, Pa., who is visiting her mother, Mrs. R. T. Hunter, of No. 215 East Franklin Street, was the guest of honor at a very pretty dance given by a number of her friends, at Hermitage Golf Club, on Tuesday evening. Among those present were Misses Ida Fleming, Katharine Coneland, Elizabeth Selden, Nell Sutton, Nancy Selden, Katharine Watkins, Jo Ann Knox, Mary Jones, Sadie Collins, Misses Newman and Mrs. Hunter; Messrs. Clord Kent, James H. Drake, Jr., Frank Samson, Lane Lacy, Frank Sutton, Kent Rawley, Burton Snod, W. O. Brown, Newman, Luther Jeffers, Tom Brockenbrough and Pryor Lipscomb.

Dinner to Graduating Class.
Last evening at Guth's the graduating class of this session of the Woman's College was treated to an elegant dinner by their president, Miss Myra Uldine Valden, of New Kent county. The guests of honor were Professor and Mrs. Melvin A. Martin, of the college.

Much to the surprise of Miss Valden, Miss Helen Laylander, of Newport News, arose, and in a most graceful speech, stated that she had been appointed by the class to express to the president their sincere appreciation of the highly efficient and acceptable service she had rendered. As a token from the class, Miss Laylander presented Miss Valden with a beautiful gold crescent, studded with pearls. Miss Valden responded in a happy and captivating speech.

Later on, Miss Valden arose, and addressed the class.

RICHMOND'S FOREMOST MILLINERY ESTABLISHMENT

Summer Millinery Opening

Tuesday, May 14, 1907.

The Trimmed Hats specially designed for Summer wear make their first appearance Tuesday—a brilliantly beautiful collection of Dame Fashion's latest edicts in smart headwear. There's a dash and piquancy to these hats that show the clever workmanship of our unrivaled corps of trimmers, whose nimble fingers have for weeks been evolving these stunning creations. You never saw so much beauty gathered in one place.

There are hats of every color—of black or white as well—of every shape and kind—elegant picturesque plume hats, smart broad-brim sailors—every new conceit brought out by the style originators of Paris, London, Berlin, and New York. There's supreme beauty and value giving in this millinery.

There are hats at every price. You are cordially asked to Tuesday's initial Summer Millinery Display.

Miss Marie Anderson, of the professional class of Mrs. W. E. Thurston's School of Expression; Miss Magie Bryant, graduate of the post-practical course; Misses Daisy Wilson and Ida Dillard, also of the full post-graduate course; and Miss Elizabeth Wilson, professional.

Dressing Professor Martin, stated that the class had unanimously instructed her to convey to him their high appreciation of his faithful devotion to their every interest, and, as a token of the high esteem and affection in which the class holds him, to present him with their class pin. The pin was in the form of a beautiful watchguard.

Professor Martin was deeply moved by this manifestation of love on the part of his pupils, and responded with considerable feeling. He reminded them of the fact that it was due to their highly creditable work that his teaching had been a source of genuine delight from day to day; that he had learned to love them each one, and would watch with unfailing interest their future progress, and take pride in their every achievement; that he was confident that his teaching had been no more of a blessing to the class than the splendid work of the class had been an inspiration and benediction to him.

Mrs. Martin was also presented with a beautiful bouquet of liberty roses the class flower, with their compliments.

The evening was most enjoyable, and every one voted Miss Valden a charming hostess.

The following young ladies compose the class: President, Miss Myra Uldine Valden; Vice-President, Lottie Marsden; Secretary, Annie Leland Green; Treasurer, Anna Chosterman Woodin; Mabel Hailey, Frances Bailey, Nannie Lou Hailey, Susan Johnson, Cora Lawson, Helen Laylander, Nancy McLaurin, Bettie Merritt, Margaret Fisher Merriam, Jennie Blitchell, Columbiana Kallio, Carrie Norris, Susie Norris, Lucy Bell, Mary Perkins, Sophie Robinson, Pearl Snoot, Ida Trosvig, Louise Tucker, Florence Wood, Wida Harwood, Ruth Gilliam, Nancy Goodman.

Ode to the West Wind

By PERCY BYSSHE SHELLEY.

Other selections from this author, his portrait, autograph and biographical sketch, have already been printed in this series.

O wild West Wind! thou breath of autumn's being,
Thou from whose unseen presence the leaves dead
Are driven like ghosts from an enchanter fleeing,
Yellow, and black, and pale, and hectic red,
Pestilence-stricken multitudes! O thou
Who chariotest to their dark wintry bed
The winged seeds, where they lie cold and low,
Each like a corpse within its grave, until
Thine azure sister of the spring shall blow
Her clarion o'er the dreaming earth, and all
(Driving sweet buds like flocks to feed in air)
With living hues and odors plain and hill;
Wild Spirit which art moving everywhere;
Destroyer and preserver; hear, oh! hear.

Thou on whose stream, 'mid the steep sky's commotion,
Loose clouds like earth's decaying leaves are shed,
Shook from the tangled boughs of heaven and ocean,
Angels of rain and lightning! there are spread
On the blue surface of thine airy surge,
Like the bright hair uplifted from the head
Of some fierce Maenad, even from the dim verge
Of the horizon to the zenith's height,
The locks of the approaching storm. Thou dirge
Of the dying year, to which this closing night
Will be the dome of a vast sepulchre,
Vaulted with all thy congregated might
Of vapors, from whose solid atmosphere
Black rain, and fire, and hail, will burst: Oh! hear.

Thou who didst waken from his summer dreams
The blue Mediterranean, where he lay,
Lulled by the coil of his crystalline streams,
Beside a pumice isle in Baiae's bay,
And saw in sleep old palaces and towers
Quivering within the wave's intenser day,
All overgrown with azure moss, and flowers
So sweet the sense faints picturing them! Thou
For whose path the Atlantic's level powers
Cleave themselves into chasms, while far below
The sea-blooms and the oozy woods which wear
The sapless foliage of the ocean know
Thy voice, and suddenly grow gray with fear,
And tremble and despoil themselves: oh! hear.

If I were a dead leaf thou mightest bear;
If I were a swift cloud to fly with thee;
A wave to pant beneath thy power, and share
The impulse of thy strength, only less free
Than thou, O uncontrollable! If even
I were as in my boyhood, and could be
The comrade of thy wanderings over heaven,
As then, when to outstrip thy sky speed
Scarce seemed a vision,—I would never have striven
As thus with thee in prayer in my sore need.
Oh! lift me as a wave, a leaf, a cloud;
I fall upon the thorns of life! I bleed!
A heavy weight of hours has chained and bowed
One too like thee—tameless, and swift, and proud.

Make me thy lyre, even as the forest is:
What if my leaves are falling like its own?
The tumult of thy mighty harmonies
Will take from both a deep autumnal tone,
Sweet though in sadness. Be thou, Spirit fierce,
My spirit! Be thou me, impenetrable;
Drive my dead thoughts over the universe,
Like withered leaves, to quicken a new birth;
And, by the incantation of this verse,
Scatter, as from an unextinguished hearth
Ashes and sparks, my words among mankind!
Be through my lips to unawakened earth
The trumpet of a prophecy! O wind,
If winter comes, can spring be far behind?
